Language: English and Sindhi
Prepared by: PDI Documentation Wing
Publication Year: 2007; 2008.
Theme: CSR

When there was little information and awareness on how the oil and gas firms are operating in Pakistan and what are the legal frameworks under which they are working and what the local community rights which they have to protect during the exploration of oil and gas in Pakistan, PDI launched an information and advocacy campaign on this issue. Under this on the one hand books were published in English language about the legal framework of oil and gas exploration for the policy makers and elected representatives, on the other hand a regular newsletter was published for the local communities to give them awareness about this whole situation.

These different editions of corporate watch highlight these thematic areas with context of exiting social problems. Corporate watch is filled with relevant stories and multiple analyses of the companies and their status of implementation on corporate social responsibility in oil and gas exploration and production sectors.
